Dismiss Police Officers At Meeting Of Council

At a meeting of the borough council last evening, all members were present with the exception of A. N. Hood. A number of grade ordinances were passed on third and final reading and many other matters of interest were given consideration. Police Officers William Woods and W. D. Forester were dismissed from service and August Wright and E. M. Fall elected to fill their places temporarily. Officers Woods and Forester were before Acting Burgess Dale yesterday evening on a charge of conduct unbecoming an officer of the law and were dismissed awaiting the action of council. Following their hearing, both men handed in their keys and asked for their money.

The water committee was instructed to look after the water plugs which are to be placedl about town. The special water committee appointed at the last meeting reported that they have conferred with the engineer and are securing a valuation of the old company and the cost of installing a new one. The bids for 500 feet of fire hose will be opened at a meeting to be held September 21.

The real estate committee is looking for a place to erect a borough stable. The streets and roads committee will take up the proposition of extending McMahan avenue. A complaint was registered that a number of people set beer bottles out on the sidewalk and children took them and broke the bottles on the street. The police were notified to arrest all offenders

Peter Johnson, the Ninth street grocer, was elected to fill the unexpired term of J. W. Cartwright, who has mysteriously disappeared. The borough solicitor was instructed to prepare an ordinance compelling the street car company to clean the streets between their tracks and eighteen inches on each side. The company will also be notified to place fenders on all cars operating within the borough within the next 90 days.

The streets and roads committee was authorized to advertise for a flush wagon for washing the streets, which will be a great improvement over the old method of using the hose.

Harkins Announces

Dr. James Harkins, a well known druggist of Mount Pleasant, has announced as a candidate for Coroner, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the September primaries. Dr. Harkins was a member of Co. E. N. G. P. and served during the Spanish American war. He is a staunch Republican and made a strong fight for the office at the last election.

Picnic A Success

The second annual picnic held by the Shepler Mission Sunday school at Oakland park Tuesday proved to be one of the real successes of the season and the crowd was by far the largest that has yet attended this new resort. The Lock Four Mission also joined the local delegation. A big list of sports featured the program and all report a most enjoyable time. The committee in charge wish to thank all who helped make the affair a success.

Prisoners Were Sent To Jail

At a hearing before Justice of the Peace Watkins yesterday afternoon, Richard Welch and Tom Magee were held for court on charges of sodomy and larceny brought by Miss Anna Wilkinson, a waitress in a Charleroi restaurant. Being unable to furnish the $1,000 bail, both young men were taken to Greensburg this morning by Constable Woolsey to await the action of the grand jury.

During the trial, which was behind closed doors, horrible tales of debauchery were disclosed in which the young men are charged with having taken part and the character of the girl was assailed. It only took a short time for the Justice to come to a conclusion that sufficient evidence had been secured to hold the young men for court.

Both young men are old offenders in the local police circles, Magee having been arrested about a week ago on a charge of drunkenness, while Welch has just recently returned from a jail sentence in Greensburg. Should they be found guilty of the charge brought against them in court, they will serve from three to five years in jail.

At The Park

Final arrangements have been perfected for what is believed will be the biggest outing of miners ever held in the Monongahela valley, the affair to be that of Saturday, of subdistrict No. 3 of district No. 5 of the United Mine Workers at Eldora park For the first time the miners of the Charleroi mine of the Carnegie Coal company will have an official part in the outing and they are helping with the arrangements.

Big events have been booked for next week at Eldora park. On Wednesday a big outing will be held from Roscoe and Coal Center. The Sunday schools had the merchants of the towns have joined to give a big picnic, and are making arrangements for the event. That evening a private dance will be held at the park by the L. C. B. A. of Donora.

Thursday the B. P. O. Elks of Donora will give a stag picnic at the park that promises to be an entertaining affair.

On Friday an outing will be held by Lady Maccabees from the valley at the park and it will be a big event that will bring scores to the park from numerous points. Blacksmiths of the valley have booked Saturday as their date for a picnic and a dispate a good time at the park.

—Today at the Olympic—"Heritage," in four reels, a great feature with the favorites, Bob Leonard and the sweetest and most sympathetic actress upon the stage, Miss Ella Hall. Every moving picture patron in the land will always welcome a Universal Multiple reel with these two clever, famous people in the cast. Their marvelous work in the "Master Key" has made them prime favorites and popular stars who "always deliver the goods." In this thrilling drama they have a real chance to show what they can do. 1t

—A charity euchre will be given under the auspices of the L. C. B. A. on the veranda of the Union hotel at First street, Thursday evening. Euchre, 500. Pit and Old Maids will be played and eighteen prizes will be given. All are welcome. 49-3t

Tribune Tries Another Source

The Greensburg Tribune has discovered that the Sealers of Weights and Measures are robbing the county. Such a discovery is quite natural for the Tribune, since the appointment of the sealers was made by W. Dick Reamer and George Brechbill, two of the county commissioners. The Tribune is after the commissioners in a round about way. A sheep dog seldom ever goes straight home. The Greensburg News Record explains the juggled article in the Tribune which made the accusation against the sealers:

"The article in the Tribune of Tuesday evening in reference to the expense account of Sealers of Weights and Measures, Rinehart and Berlin has caused some comment as the matter is not generally understood.

"The explanation given by those officials makes it plain that there was no wrong doing or grafting, as the paper insinuates.

"The law allows the Sealers of Weights and Measures their hotel bill, railroad fares, telephone calls or any other necessary expenses. When the officials took the office the matter of expenses was adjusted and on this adjustment, payment was made monthly since the first of January, 1914, or for twenty months. The amount agreed on was always duly paid without protest and being in conformity to the law it is somewhat surprising that it is now dragged before the public.

"Sealers Rinehart and Berlin have been complimented by the Tribune, as well as by the press generally and are chagrinned that the editor of the Tribune would missuse them in order to vent his spleen on Commissioners Reamer and Brechbill.

"We make this explanation out of a sense of justice to the gentlemen wronged. We speak after investigation."

Rating Guide Here

The Merchants Credit Rating guide for Monessen and vicinity is being distributed. It is a voluminous mass of information about local people with regard to their promptness in paying their bills. The book is issued for the information of mercantile concerns and will no doubt assist in guiding merchants as to who is deserving of reasonable credit. Judging from a hasty glance into the book it would seem that few have escaped a rating of some kind and it is hoped the book will serve its mission in placing the town generally on a higher plane of mercantile endeavor.

Yeggs Are Warned To Keep Away

Three Knights of the Road stopped off here last night for refreshments and at the request of Chief Wheatley remained over night as the guests of the borough. When they faced Acting Burgess Dale this morning, they gave their names as William McArdy of McKeesport, Thomas Hackett of Glassport and James T. Herd of Pittsburgh. They confessed taking on too much liquid refreshments and promised to leave the town never to return if they were allowed their freedom. The Burgess discharged them, with a time limit on their stay here.

Thomas Sebrin is a hard worker in the Donora mills and he failed to go to sleep yesterday, but instead came here in a jitney and got drunk. He fell asleep at Fifth street and was picked up, but allowed his freedom this morning.

Married Yesterday

The marriage of Miss Lena Goffin of this city and Charles Collinet of Charleroi took place yesterday morning at 9 o'clock in the St. Leonard's R. C. church of this city, the Rev. Father F. J. Healy, assistant pastor officiating. The young couple were attended by Miss Clara Bell of Charleroi and Charles Flood, intimate friends of the bride and groom. The bride wore a dress of white net trimmed in silver white cording and messaline and carried a large boquet of white roses and astors. The brides-maid wore a dress of pale pink silk trimmed in shadow lace. The groom is a well known resident of the Magic City and for a time was an employe of the W. M. B. V. & F. C. street railway company. The bride is a popular young lady of this city. The wedding breakfast was served at their new residence at 724 Fallowfield avenue, where they will reside in the future.

Candidates Flock Here As Primaries Approach

There's a scramble for places on the Republican ticket this fall and yesterday Monessen was besieged with candidates, in fact there has been a steady flow for several days past. Monessen's vote in this primary election will have a telling voice and the town may be the balance of power for several offices. It is believed there will be at least 1800 Republican votes in the five precincts.

The three local candidates are on the move. They are Jesse J. B. Wall for Register of Wills, J. I. Smith for County Commissioner and Jesse Hancock for Treasurer. These men will in all probability poll an almost solid vote from home which will give either man a good chance over the county, and it is generally conceded that in order to strengthen the ticket in the fall that this community ought to be represented thereon.

Judge A. D. McConnell who aspires to succeed himself on the bench, was in town yesterday in the interests of his campaign. The Judge seemed to enjoy his stay here and he surely met many of the voters and a host of his personal friends. He was accompanied by a number of attorneys which indicates that the bar is pretty generally assisting the Judge to re-election. Those who composed his party were Adam M. Wyant, Charles E. Whitten, Harry Yont, W. P. Dom, also Harry Bovard of the Keystone Coal company. The party spent the entire day here.

Tuesday John E. Shields who aspires to the nomination for the office of Sheriff, paid his respects to the community in the interest of his campaign. Shields polled a heavy vote her four years ago when he was a candidate for county commissioner, and judging by the way he was received, his friends will remain loyal to him in this contest. Mr. Shields spent only a few hours here, but expects to return and make a thorough canvass of the town. Shields is concede to be a strong candidate and especially among the labor people and friends of labor.

Open Monday

Everything is in readiness for the opening of the Star theatre Monday of next week. The two new machines arrived today and will be put in operation yet this week for a test. A new power plant has been installed along with a new screen, and the patrons of the theatre will receive a delightful surprise when they enter this popular playhouse, which has been remodeled and repainted throughout. Manager McShaffrey has spared neither time nor money in improving his theatre and with the high class program for which he has contracted, lovers of good moving pictures will have no complaints to make on this theatre.

What Next? What Next?

Despite the publicity given to freak laws and the satirical comment passed upon them by thoughtful newspapers, legislators continue to make laws which are so absurd that their enforcement is impossible, and politicians bend the statutes to suit their own ends and personal advancement regardless of the good of the state. Wisconsin, which has been more or less in the limelight for freak laws, has passed a law, making it compulsory for a person to pay $5 for a license to give away cigarettes Cigarette smokers who have been in the habit of "bumming the makings" or asking a friend for a cigarette cannot do so without subjecting the friend to a sixty-day sentence. The legislature of Georgia has passed a law to prevent legislators from entering the legislative halls in an intoxicated condition. Although Georgia is a dry state, she is the only state in the Union which has deemed it necessary to pass such a law. The "soft drink" men of Georgia are also up in the air over a new "soft drink" bill which has just been introduced. By this bill, every soft drink stand in the state will have to pay a license of from $25 to $50 a year; every bottling plant shall pay a license of $100 a year; all manufacturers of soft drinks shall pay a tax of ten cents per gallon on all syrups, twenty-five cents on all tinctures and fifty cents per gallon on all extracts used in soft drinks. Texas also steps into the light with a curious perversion of law for the purpose of reprisal. The wet and dry forces of Wichita Falls have been about equally divided. Recently the bartenders refused to vote for the candidates of the labor unions, and now all labor unions are going to get even by voting out the saloons and depriving the recalcitrant bartenders of their jobs. Landlords in the business section of the town are going to be made to suffer also. They turned down recently a petition to reduce rents. Now these renters are going to vote out the saloon in order to throw 27 vacant store rooms on the real estate market and thus force down rents. In Chicago a woman is urging the passage of an ordinance to force milkmen to wear rubber heels on their shoes.

Unreasonable Profits

The American slogan is not "Safety First," it is "Money First" At least that's the slogan with the big guns, the fellows who cry neutrality and keep their factories running day and night to turn out war munitions. "Money First" was the slogan with the owners of the Eastland Steamer that went to the bottom and destroyed one thousand souls because it was over loaded. The Government is now delving into the facts in an effort to fix the blame for that awful disaster. We hope it will be fixed. But after it is fixed, what will result? Will the fixing of the blame bring back the lost children to the homes of their parents, will fixing the blame dry the tears of mourners? Will fixing the blame pay for the damage done? Not on your life. Will fixing the blame stop future trafficking in souls to squeeze out big profits? It seems no excursion, no entertainment, no enterprise in America is a success unless it is a huge success. Reaonable profits will not do. The few behind the projects must be handed fat rolls else all is not well. Do you think fixing the blame for this awful toll of life will have any effect on future occurrences of this kind? If not, what is the use to investigate?

Why guarantee a Chautauqua? A Chautauqua is a business enterprise as well as any other concern, and if it cannot be self sustaining, why insist that it be thrust upon a community?

We venture that a newspaper is of an educational nature. But can you find two hundred men in Monessen who will guarantee the success of a local publication? The paper might be needed far more than a Chautauqua is needed for educational purposes, but men would not willingly guarantee its financial support. The Chautauqua is a good thing in many ways, but we doubt if this town will ever have another, if it devolves upon certain people to guarantee the promoters that their expenses will be paid during their stay here. It looks like asking entirely too much.

It is pretty well understood that certain interests in this county will not support the Republican ticket unless their men are nominated. This understanding seems to have gone out from certain headquarters, and it is becoming generally known, not only among candidates, but among voters generally.. Buoyed up over Westmoreland county's contribution to Republican success last year, certain interests believe they are in a position to assert a leadership. It might be wise for this faction to realize that it is up to the voters to nominate and it will be up to the voters to elect. It's easy to take care of the boss these days.

England's Bathtub Murderer Hangs Tomorrow

London, Aug. 12—George Joseph Smith, the famous murderer, known as the Modern Bluebeard, must hang tomorrow at Maidstone Prison. Smith was tried in June and convicted of the murder of three wives, each of whom was found nude and drowned in their baths. The motive for his crimes was found to be money and it was claimed he had received $14,000 in this manner. The circumstances of each crime were almost identical.

The three victims of Smith were: Beatrice Mundy, whom he married in July, 1912, Alice Burnham, to whom he was married in November, 1913, and Margaret Lofty, who married Smith under the name of John Lloyd in November 1914.

The trial at Old Bailey began in June, and Smith was convicted on July 1. He was sentenced on July 31 to be hanged tomorrow. The trial was one of the most spectacular of recent years. Smith rose in a crowded court room and shrieked "Not guilty, not guilty. It's all a lie." Smith is 43 years old, a tall, thin man, with shifting eyes.

The evidence introduced showed that Smith had an uncanny influence over women. He charmed them wherever he went. They deserted homes, gave him everything they possessed and made wills in his favor. It was claimed by the prosecution that he had had six wives, including the three who met their deaths in the bathtubs. It was claimed that he had two wives before he met and won Beatrice Mundy. After this marriage, it was claimed Smith deserted, taking $500 of his bride's money. But so great was his fascination that he won her forgiveness. In fact he succeeded in gaining as a provision that he return to her, a bequest of $12.500 on her death. Shortly afterward she was found dead in her bath tub, the first of the three victims of the Modern Bluebeard.

The defense set up that Beatrice Mundy suffered a fit and drowned accidentally was ridiculed by the prosecution. The position in which the body was found was the evidence which the Crown relied on to prove murder.

It was claimed by the prosecution that Smith, after claiming his bequest, returned to one of his previous wives, named Pegler Shortly afterward he met Alice Burnham, a nurse. This girl had saved up a modest sum. $500 and Smith married her in 1913. It was claimed that he induced her to will her savings to him and to insure her life for $2,500 in his favor. The Burnham woman was also found dead in her bathtub. Smith collected the insurance and soon afterward married Alice Revaly, who is still living Later on, under the name of John Lloyd, he married Elizabeth Lofty, whose death in the same manner in her bathtub aroused suspicion.

One of the most important arguments used against Smith by the Crown prosecutor was that in each of the deaths, the woman was found in the bathroom of a lodging house, nude and entirely dead, and that in all cases the bath room door was unlocked. It was inconceivable, claimed the prosecutor that a modest woman would enter a bathroom in a strange house without locking the door from the inside.

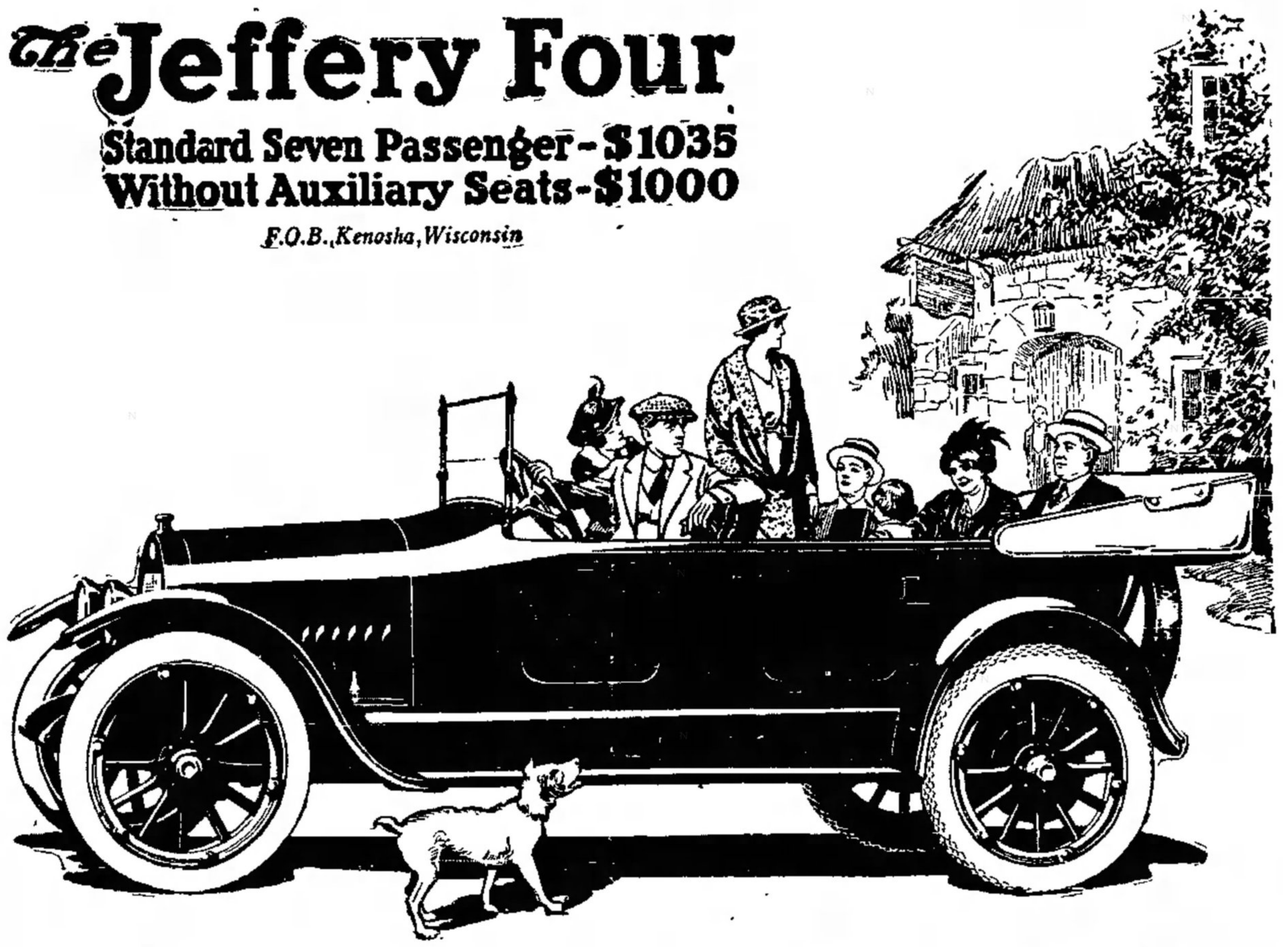
The Jeffery Four

Standard Seven Passenger - $1035
Without Auxiliary Seats - $1000

F.O.B., Kenosha, Wisconsin



Establishing a New Standard of Value at a $1000 Price

New seven-passenger body—divided front seats—extra length springs—two hundred pounds lighter—the first automobile of its quality, size and efficiency to sell at a $1000 price.

TWO years ago last January, the Jeffery Company announced the Jeffery Four at $1550—the first automobile of its quality to sell below $2000.

This will be remembered as the car which introduced the high-speed, high-efficiency motor into this country. Its remarkable service record in the hands of owners has established it as the standard American automobile of quality and moderate cost.

33 Points of Jeffery Superiority

Standard seven-passenger body
Divided lounge-type front seats
Extra length springs
Weight, 2750 pounds
116-inch wheel base
34 x 4 Goodyear Fortified tires—All-weather tread rear

Jeffery Chesterfield body
Rear seat, 48 inches wide
Easy-riding auxiliary seats
Extra wide doors
Deep real leather upholstery
Concealed door handles
Light Brewster green finish

Jeffery high-speed motor
Unit power plant
Extra large motor bearings
Bosch magneto ignition
Stromberg high-efficiency carburetor
Bijur electric starting and lighting
Smooth acting disc clutch
Jeffery silent gear shift
Jeffery easy-control steering gear
Hotchkiss type flexible drive
Jeffery-built silent rear axle
Extra surface brakes
Emergency brake on propeller shaft

Jeffery one-man top
Adjustable clear-vision windshield
Locking double dimmer lights

Van Sicklen speedometer
Automatic gasoline feed
Complete equipment

The Jeffery Company now presents the new Jeffery Four—larger than last year—roomier—lighter in weight—more powerful—easier riding—and with the famous Chesterfield body—a finer car in every respect than the original Jeffery Four—a car combining economical operating and maintenance cost with a road performance which ranks with that of the biggest, highest priced automobiles—at a price of $1035! Without the auxiliary seats, $1000!

In announcing this car, it is not the purpose of the Jeffery Company to meet temporary price conditions, nor to compromise with an imagined desire on the part of dealers and the public for cheapness. On the contrary, it is the aim and determination of the Jeffery Company to establish the Jeffery Four as a standard at a standard price—a car which discriminating buyers can drive for a number of seasons without suffering the marked depreciation which has been such an unfortunate feature of the automobile business.

The new Jeffery Four is a quality automobile in every sense of the word—built to maintain and increase the enviable reputation of the original Jeffery Four.

The Jeffery Six

The same specifications as the famous Jeffery Chesterfield Six—silent worm drive, Lanchester cantilever spring suspension and other quality features found elsewhere on only high-priced foreign cars—refined to an even smoother, quieter operation than ever—price $1350 F. O. B. Kenosha—$300 lower in price than last year.

In the spring of the year 1868 a party of sporting hunters numbering thirty entered the elbow of Texas between New Mexico and the Indian territory.

While the Comanche Indians were bitterly hostile at that time they had been sadly reduced by smallpox and driven to the north, and old frontiersmen stated their belief that the party would not even see one.

I had been invited to make one of the party, but was detained for a couple of days. I then mounted my horse and picked up the trail and followed after, having no fear that I should run any danger in thus riding.

It had come noon of the second day, and I had met with no adventure. I had halted and watered my horse and was ready to move on, when I heard a "Yi, yi, yi!" on my right, and I turned around to see five Comanches coming out of the timber on their ponies. They were just half a mile away and had evidently discovered me.

When a man rides for his life the greatest fear is in overdoing the matter. I had been five years on the plains and had a pretty fair stock of nerve, and I rode to favor my horse.

As the sun began to sink in the west they sought to shorten the distance between us and bring me into rifle shot, but a word to the mustang checkmated this.

Had I been able to keep the trail after 3 o'clock I should have counted on finding the party by sundown, as we were getting over the ground at a rapid pace, but at about that hour I came to a rough, stony district, where the passage of the horses had left no trail, and I went ahead at random, planning to keep my distance from the river. It was to be a starlight night, and as soon as dusk came I urged my beast to a faster pace and bore more to the left. When I believed I had gained a quarter of a mile I swerved sharply to the right, rode for forty rods and then dismounted and gave Custer the word to lie down. We were both flat on the earth when the party of pursuers swept by, and the thud, thud, thud of their ponies' feet came very plainly to my ears.

I had a cold bite in my haversack, and after disposing of it stretched out and went to sleep, hoping I had given the red men the slip. I opened my eyes the next morning in astonishment. Seated in a circle about me were the five Comanches, while their ponies were feeding with my horse. I lay on my back with my hands clasped under my head, and such was my astonishment that I could not move. Fortunately for me they took this for nerve. I looked from man to man, and finally said in Comanche:

"Had I known you were Comanches I should not have run away. I thought you were Chickasaws on stolen horses. I shall be ready to go as soon as I have eaten. I want to see the Comanche country—the vast plains—the Canadian river—the mountains full of caves and waterfalls—your chief, Thunder Cloud."

One of them asked me if I belonged to the party ahead, and I told him no. He asked me how I dared start out alone for the Comanche country, and I told him that I had trapped the mountain lion and cut out and eaten his liver while still alive, and therefore feared nothing living. I could see that they were badly puzzled, and I increased their wonder by saying, as I finished my breakfast:

"Come. It is time to go. We have a long ride, and I am anxious to see your country."

When we set out, two in front and three behind, and no Indians were ever more puzzled. In later years I met one of them and he told me that their plan was to torture me as soon as I awoke. They were beat out of this by my queer remarks, intended just for that purpose. Several times during the day I expressed my impatience at our slow pace and asked them to get on faster, and when we went into camp I saw that I had them off their guard. After eating I sat apart from them to smoke and meditate and to give them an opportunity to compare notes. Just when the five got their heads together to discuss something they did not wish me to hear I arose and stepped backward out of the light of the fire, and I believe I was a hundred feet away when they missed me.

I heard them scatter and beat about, and while they were hunting for me I crawled along and got my gun. I crept away from the circle of the fire and then got the shelter of a tree. The Indians beat about for a good half hour, and then all came in, chagrined and disgusted. I lifted my gun and took fair aim at the leader. He went down as my rifle cracked and was followed by a second and a third before the surviving two could comprehend what was going on. Neither stopped for his gun.

I stood guard all night, and when morning came was satisfied that the two who had escaped had no idea of returning. After a scanty breakfast I caught up the six animals, packed up everything of value, and then I headed to the southeast for the river, and at 3 o'clock rode right into the camp of the party, which had settled down for sport and had given me no thought. Next day a party of us rode over to give the bodies a more careful inspection, and we found on each one a silver government medal, given them during Lincoln's first term, as "good Indians."

Monessen people endorse their merit.

Mrs. McCleary, 256 Sixth street, Monessen, says: "One of the family was bothered by sharp pains in the small of the back which often extended into the shoulders. After stooping it was hard to regain an erect position and often the pains almost took one's breath away. Headaches were most constant and black spots floated before the eyes. A number of medicines failed to bring help and Doan's Kidney Pills were finally procured at the Hirsch Drug Co. The first box brought relief and three boxes made a cure."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®
NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

Today, tomorrow and Saturday, are tip top days. Remember, it opens your eyes. Watch, don't complain that we have not told you. We have. We have been barking daily. We have spent a fortune just to tell you the great things we have, although unnecessary as long as we have the strongest companies of the world back of us, such as the Universal Film Co., with millions and millions of capital, with an entire city, Universal City, owners and founders of it for their productions, with famous Broadway stars. And as long as we say Pathe Co., as big and as strong nearly as the Universal with its 55 exchanges with their great reputation the world over for their productions, some of which we have had here — "The Exploits of Elaine" and "Who Pays" wonderful productions. And as long as we have the North American Film Co. with the proof of their great standing, "The Diamond from the Sky." And as long as we have the Metro Film Co., with over five millions capital, but with directors and leaders the best among the moving picture world, such as Clark and Roland, our Pittsburgh men, the most enterprising men in this country. It is now ten years since they started in this great business with practically nothing, and today with a chain of over fifty theatres all around the country, one of them in the East End, the most beautiful moving picture theatre in the world with many millions of dollars capital and with such famous stars as Mme. Olga Patrova, featuring the picture which we will have tomorrow, Friday, Aug. 13.—"The Heart of a Painted Woman," with Valli Valli . Aug. 20 with Edmund Breese, in the picture coming on Aug. 27 with Francis X. Bushman. And so many others, you run no risk to get ready and walk straight to the Olympic every day and you will never be disappointed no way.—Manager.

THURSDAY—"Heritage," a four reel drama, featuring Bob Leonard and Ella Hall, the famous stars of "The Master Key" serial. Universal productions. Second a two reel drama and a one reel comedy of Pathe

FRIDAY—The first feature of the great Metro Film Corporation productions. Thereafter every Friday one of these great features, consisting of 5, 6 and seldom 4 reels each. Each one of these wonderful features are complete dramas and are in no ways connected. Friday, Aug. 13, Popular Play and Players offer Mme. Olga Petrova, the stage's most beautiful and talented star in "The Heart of a Painted Woman," five acts of superb dramatic action. Friday, Aug 20, B. A. Rolfe presents the exquisite stage star in the dramatic success in "The High Road," in five acts, 210 scenes.

Friday, Aug. 27—The Metro Picture corporation presents the powerful dramatic star, Edmund Breese in a gripping play of the great show world, "The Shooting of Dan McGrew," an enchanting five act picture play, etc. So you see that these productions are in no way connected,only are to be exhibited in our theatre in rotation every Friday.

Friday, Aug. 13—The wonderful day—Metro Film corporation "The Heart of a Painted Woman" in five reels. Second "The Rise and Fall of Officer 13," a comedy, featuring Eddie Yvons, Billie Rhodes and Jack Dillon. Third "The Hunchback's Romance," a two reel drama, from Bruno Lessing's famous story "The Interruption."

The story of the "The Heart of a Painted Woman" which will be exhibited in our theatre Friday, August 13 is as follows:

Selma, daughter of poor parents, leaves her home in Pennsylvania, to go to New York and take up her career as a singer. Unsuccessful she abandons singing and secures a position as model in the studio of a rich artist. After a few sittings, model and master become infatuated and before the first painting is finished, Selma succumbs to his wiles and becomes his paramour.

Later Selma is abandoned and the artist becomes the husband of a prominent heiress. Desperate and discouraged, Selma sinks lower and lower in the human scale and at an entertainment she meets Young Spendthrift. Enthusiastic over Selma's rare beauty, her latest admirer suggests a game of cards, the stakes to be Selma herself. The winner to accompany her to her home. Disgusted at the affair, Selma flees, but is followed by Young Spendthrift, the winner. Spendthrift offers Selma large sums of money—but to no avail. Selma lectures Spendthrift and tells him that if she had his opportunities in life, she would have accomplished things, instead of being the "sort of woman she was."

Struck with an inspiration, Spendthrift decides to give her a chance, and presents her with one hundred thousand dollars. Later Wealth, father-in-law of Selma's former lover, covets the fortune of Spendthrift, and uses the artist to bring about his ruin. By means of underhand methods, Wealth gains his end. Spendthrift is ruined. Selma in the meantime, has devoted her money and time to creating a hospital for the care of abandoned children Visiting among the poor families takes much of her time.

Spendthrift, learning that the artist was responsible for his downfall, as well as Selma's, plots revenge, and with this end in view invites all his friends to see him bury his past life. Artist comes to the affair with Spendthrift, becomes intoxicated and at the end the two lie down to sleep off the stupor.

Wealth then appears, tirades against Artist's actions and the treatment by him, of his, Wealth's daughter—while Spendthrift, in the throes of a drug passions—See the rest of this magnificient allegory in "The Heart of a Painted Woman."

SATURDAY—First, "A Daughter of the Jungles," in 2 reels, featuring Marie Walcamp and Wellington Playter. Second, "The Village Smithy," a Joker comedy, featuring the dear old fellow, Max Asher and Gail Henry. You will laugh if you only see her. Third, the Animated Weekly with its wonderful daily news. Fourth, The 12th episode of "The Diamond from the Sky." You can win $10,000 for a good suggestion for its successor. Our serial pictures everyone are the most wonderful on the market. They are amazing, thrilling, and spell binding. Our patrons know it too.

Some of next week's features are Tuesday—Pathe Features.

Thursday—The most wonderful feature of the strongest and largest manufacturing company in the universe. the Universal's First Broadway Triumph—Jane Cowl, the brilliant Broadway star will appear in our Universal program, "The Garden of Lies" in five acts, a gripping dramatic novelty by Justus Miles Forman and every Thursday one of those great features. Friday, Aug. 20 the second, of Metro's world's famous productions, "The High Road" by Valli Valli in five acts, 210 scenes, and the most important and pleasing thing for our patrons to know is that we do all this great improvement, we go to all this enormous expense without a cent of extra expense to our patrons. Our prices of admission will stand still only 5c and 10c. Think of it.—Olympic. 1t

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 12—Louis Bundy, who killed a mesenger boy in this city for twenty dollars with which to buy a present for his sweetheart, will be hanged tomorrow. Governor Johnson gave him a reprive from June 18 to August 12 in order that he might study the case, on appeal for clemency.
